What are solar panel warranties?

Let's break down solar panel warranties, different levels of coverage and what you can expect to be protected from. Solar panel protection comes in two levels: manufacturer warranties covering product defects and energy output, including degradation, and installer warranties covering workmanship and installation quality.

How long does a solar panel warranty last?

A standard solar panel warranty should come with at least 10 years of protection, though many premium options now offer 25 or even 30+ years of coverage. Most solar panel warranties won't reimburse for labor costs associated with installing new equipment or shipping fees for replacement parts.

What is a solar installer warranty?

In essence, it's a guarantee by the company putting in your solar panels that they will fix any problems caused by faulty installation for a set period. The installer warranty typically covers roof holes and waterproofing, electrical connections, mounting hardware, and overall workmanship.

Does insurance cover a solar system?

Insurance protects against unexpected events that damage your system, like storm damage from hail, wind, or lightning, fire, theft, vandalism, or falling trees. Most home insurance policies will cover your solar system, but check with your insurance company before installation.
